

WOUNDED IN ACTION.

Private W. E. Cotterill (wounded) is a patient in No. 1 Australian General Hospital, Heliopolis, Egypt. He is the eldest son of Mr. G. E. Cotterill, Inspector of Schools, Young. A fortnight ago he cabled to his relatives that he had sustained "slight damage" worry unnecessary." Eight days afterwards came the official intimation that he is suffering from a bomb wound in the neck. The wounded soldier is a brother of the late Lieut. Eric R. Cotterill, who was killed in May last, whilst leading a special reconnoitring patrol.

WOUNDED IN ACTION.

Private W. E. Cotterill (wounded) is a patient in No. 1 Australian General Hospital, Heliopolis, Egypt. He is the eldest son of Mr. G. T. Cotterill, Inspector of Schools, Young. A fortnight ago he cabled to his relatives that he had sustained "slight damage" worry unnecessary." Eight days afterwards came the official intimation that he is suffering from a bomb wound in the neck. The wounded soldier is a brother of the late Lieut. Eric R. Cotterill, who was killed in May last, whilst leading a special reconnoitring patrol.

Source: WOUNDED IN ACTION. (1915, September 3). Young Witness (NSW : 1915 - 1923), p. 2. Retrieved July 8, 2013, from http://nla.gov.au/nla.news-article113672293